

The Blessing of Peace

May you come to understand peace and that you can live in peace.

May you be blessed with a mind defined by peace and may you become a giver of that peace.

May the peace that you give be balanced and wise.

May you find peace in chaos and in lull.

May peace be your guild post and your first response.

May you come to know the source of true peace.

May you come to understand that you have an endless supply of peace from the Creator of All and each time you give it out your ability to give becomes even greater.

May peace become your truth and a lens you.

May you find peace in your waking hours and in your sleep.

May peace always be felt by all those around you and may its presence linger and be known after you have left that place.

Finally may peace become like the sight you look through.

May the wisdom of the Creator of All bring you to and keep you in a beautiful synergistic peace.
